INTRODUCTION

WHAT IS HERITAGE?

Heritage is the full range of our inherited traditions, Monuments, objects and culture. Most important, it is the range of contemporary activities, meanings, and behaviours that we draw from them.

Heritage includes, but is much more than preserving, excavating, displaying, or restoring a collection of old things. It is both tangible and intangible in the sense that ideas and memories - of songs, recipes, language, dances and many other elements of who we are and how we identify ourselves are as important as historical buildings and archaeological sites.

Heritage is or should be the subject of active public reflection, debate and discussion. what is worth saving? what can we or should we forget? what memories can we enjoy, regret or learn from who owns "the past" and who is entitled to speak from past generations? Active public discussion about material and intangible heritage of individuals, groups, communities, and nations is a valuable facet of public life in our multicultural world.

Heritage is a contemporary activity with far-reaching effects. It can be an element of far-sighted urban and regional planning. It can be the platform for political recognition, a medium for intercultural dialogue, a means of ethical reflection, and the potential basis for local economic development. It is simultaneously local and particular, global and shared.

-Heritage is an essential part of the present we live in and of the future we will build.

"SLOGANS"

HOW TO PROTECT THE NATIONAL HERITAGE.

"India is a vast country; It contains multitudes"

India has an extraordinary, vast and diverse pool of cultural heritage and ancient monuments in the form of buildings and other archaeological sites and remains. The sheer number of these historic Heritages is astounding. And the fact that these monuments are the reminiscence of the living witness of the golden historic era of over a thousand years and of the pre-independence battles they carry a special and a well-deserved respect in the eye of the Indians.

They are the epitoms of courage, stand testimony to the evolution and are a symbol of cultural expressions.

The Archaeological Survey of India (ASI) describes ancient monument as "Ancient monument means any structure, erection or monument, or any tumulus or place of interment, or any cave, rock sculpture, inscription or monolith or artistic interest and which has been in existence for not less than 100 years. Some of these ancient heritage includes Taj Mahal, Agra; Qutub minar delhi tomb at mathura; Ajanta and Ellora caves; Nasik, maharashtra; The Jantar-Mantar, Delhi, Jaipur; The Red fort, Delhi; The Charminar, Hyderabad and others. There are about a thousand more such places spread all over India. Also included are other places, forts, epigraphs, coins, drawings, architecture, wells and sculpture. Most of the Sculpture in historic temples and tourist have been damaged by vandals and inscribed gold/silver/Bronze idols have been taken out of the country, the epigraphs are vanishing during construction of additional facilities in old temples and mindless applying of fresh coat of paint during renovation some monuments have gone missing due to encroachment, granite quarrying and construction of dwelling units near the temples and collapse of fort walls.

For the maintenance of ancient monuments and archaeological sites and remains of national importance the ASI has divided the entire country into 24 circles. The ASI has a large work force of trained archaeologists, conservators, epigraphist, architects and scientists for conducting archaeological research projects. Earlier a lot of laws and acts had been passed by the government to protect these monuments, but major of them were done on structures that were beneficial to the contemporary society. Also, the work that was carried out had a dearth of funds, enthusiasm and awareness. Later the Ancient monuments and preservation act, 1901 was passed with the prime objective to ensure the proper upkeep and repair of ancient buildings in private ownership excepting such as those used for religious purposes. Under this program, the conservation work is carried out in three main broad categories:

1. Chemical preservation:- The ASI's Science Branch is responsible mainly for the chemical conservation treatment and preservation of some three thousand five hundred ninety-three protected monuments besides chemical preservation of museum and excavated objects countrywide. The main aim of the Science Branch includes - material deterioration process basic studies of intervention technologies, Basic studies on materials and diagnostic technologies.

2. Structural conservation:- The workers in the field are acquiring cumulative knowledge of

Several generations and gaining expertise on the ways to improve and stabilize the structures by maintaining their pristine looks. The structures are given additional strength and reinforced to undo the harms done by pollution, acid rains, and other chemicals over the years. The foundations are so improved so as to make these structures natural-disasters resistant.

3. contemporary Awareness program: The citizens of India in general and students in specific are being roped in by the government to spread awareness and advertise about the preservation of the heritage many seminars are being organized every year where the students are lectured not only about the basic steps each can take individually on this issue but also are made familiarized with the amount of money, time, expertise and labour that goes into protecting these structures via chemical and other methods.

Some of the steps that we as students can follow to do our share in their protection are:-

1. prevent ourselves and others from scribbling on the walls.
2. participating in the regular cleanliness drives.
3. Being a part of the "Adopt a Heritage" initiative.
4. Spreading awareness around about these monuments and their importance.

In today's competitive world, we have to preserve the monuments and showcase them to the next generation as the contributions or achievements of our ancestors. A little effort on our side can create drastic changes that will make the past, the present and the future generations of the country and the world proud of India.

HISTORY OF QULI QUTB SHAHI

The dynasty founder sultan Quli Qutb-ul-mulk, migrated to Delhi from Iran, with his uncle, Allah - Quli, some of his relatives and friends.

In the beginning of the 16th century. later he migrated south, to the Deccan and served the Bahmani Sultan, mohammad shah the conquered Golconda after the disintegration of the Bahmani Kingdom into the five Deccan Sultanates soon after he declared independence from the bahmani sultate. took the title Qutb shah and established the Qutb Shahi dynasty of golconda. He was later assassinated in 1543 by his Son, Jamsheed who assumed the sultanate. Jamsheed died in 1580 from cancer. Jamsheed's young son regnal for a year at which time the nobility brought back and installed Ibrahim Quli as sultan. During the reign of mohammed Quli Qutub Shah relations between Hindus and muslims were strengthened even to the point of Hindus observing their religious festival like Diwali and Holi. Some Hindus rose to prominence in the Qutub Shahi state the most important example being the minister Madanna and Rukkanna Golconda and with the construction of the Charminar later Hyderabad served as a capital of the Sultanate and both cities were embellished by the Qutub Shahi Sultans. The dynasty ruled Golconda for 171 years, until the Mughal emperor Aurangzeb conquered the Deccan in

CULTURE :-

The Qutub Shahi rulers were great builders whose structures included the Charminar as well as patrons of learning. Quli Qutub Mulk's court became a haven for Persian culture and literature. Sultan Mohammed Quli Qutub Shah (1580-1612) wrote poems in Kachchhi Urdu, Persian and Telugu and left a huge poetry collection. Subsequent poets and writers, however, wrote in Urdu, while using vocabulary from Persian, Hindi and Telugu languages. By 1535, the Qutub Shahis were using Teluga for their revenue and judicial areas within the Sultanate.

Initially, the Qutub Shahi rulers patronized Persianate culture but eventually adopted the regional culture of the Deccan symbolized by the Telugu language and the newly developed Deccani idiom of Urdu became prominent although Telugu was not their mother tongue. The Golkonda rulers spoke and wrote Telugu and patronized Telugu so exclusively they were termed the 'Telugu sultans' in 1543 fearing for his life prince Ibrahim Quli fled to the Vijayanagar court, which lavishly patronized the Telugu language upon his enthronement as sultan in 1550, Ibrahim Quli was thoroughly acquainted with Telugu aesthetics.

The Qutub Shahi rulers were much more liberal than their other Muslim counterparts during the reign of Abdullah Qutub Shah In 1634CE the ancient Indian Sex manual Koka Shastra was translated into Persian named Dazzat-un-Nisa (Flavours of the women).

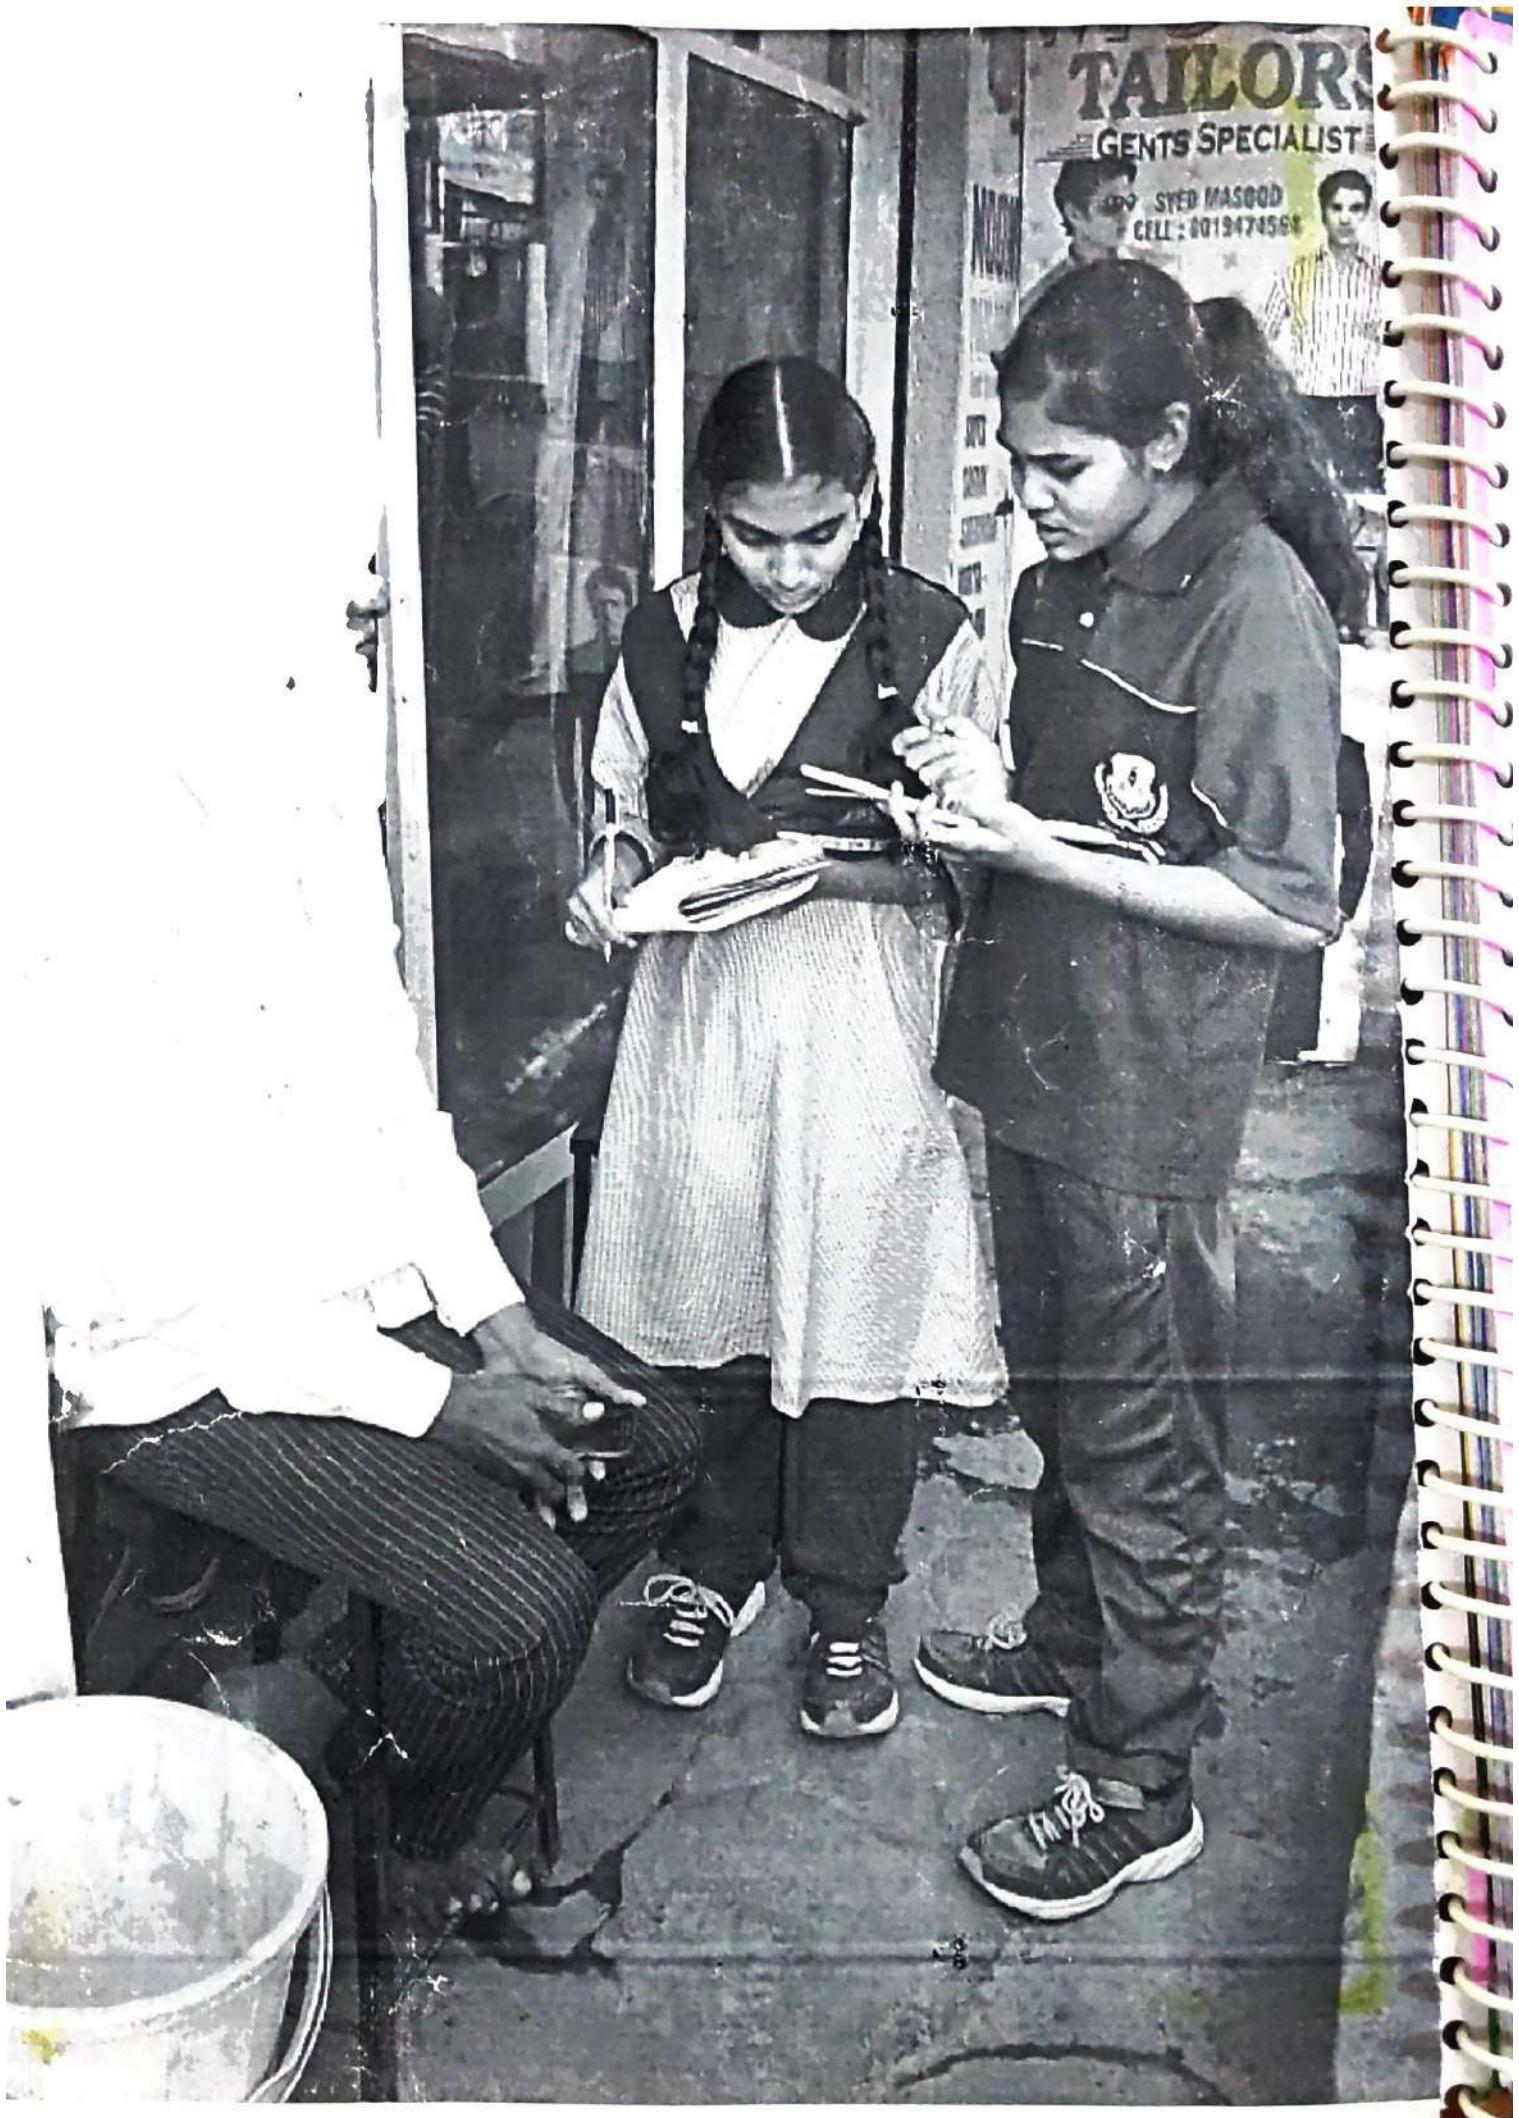

ARCHITECTURE :-

The Qutub Shahi architecture was Indo-Islamic a culmination of Indian and Persian architectural styles. These styled was very similar to that of the other Deccan Sultanates.

16

Some examples of Qutub Shahi Indo-Islamic architecture are the Golconda forts, tombs of Qutub Shahis, Charminar and the Chattrapet, Mecca Masjid, Kairatabad mosque, Hayat Bakshi mosque, Taramati Baradari and the Toli mosque.

Findings / Bullet points :-

18th April Day

World Heritage Day.

Our culture and natural heritage are the sources of our identity and honour it.

2. A people without the knowledge of their past, origins and culture is like a tree with no roots.

3. It is not the honour that you take with you, but the heritage age you leave behind.

4. Our heritage are culture and our values best exemplified by starting to appreciate it that's the essence of life after all as we recognise it.

5. Love is my heritage, a special gift that I have been given and can share with the world.

6. My parents are proud of their Indian heritage, but they came halfway across the world so their children could be born here, raised here as Americans. They came legally, but they came here in search of American dreams, in search of freedom and opportunity.

HERITAGE AS IMPORTANT TODAY AND TOMORROW

Without the past, there cannot be any today or tomorrow. Here lies the importance of heritage, that is right from the roots of any communities of race. These cannot be future goal without heritage which is essentially a launching of rockets to explore the unknown and mysteries of the outer space and cosmos.

"or Heritage and Ideals, our code and standard. The things we lives by and teach our children are preserved or diminished by how freely we exchange ideas and feelings.

connection

you should now have a clear understanding of the history of the World Heritage convention and the World Heritage list, and the Selection criteria that are used to justify the inclusion of items on the list. You have also begun to take a critical approach to the concept of world heritage by undertaking a close critical reading of the Venice Charter, World Heritage Convention, and the World Heritage Criteria for Selection.

I hope that several linked concepts have become clear to you. Heritage is not, as many believe, so much about the past as it is about the present. Heritage looks to the past, but it is something that is produced in the present for a particular purpose within human groups and societies. Following on from this idea is the concept that heritage is a form of 'representation', which has the potential both to include and exclude certain members of Society. When we talk about heritage as a form of representation, we refer to the way in which heritage objects, places and practices come to 'stand for' something else, whether that be an idealised sense of nationhood and its citizens, an ethnic group, or a particular set of histories and ideas about the past. For this reason, heritage is also about the power to control the past and to produce it in the present. In western societies, heritage is connected with a series of authorised heritage discourses (AHD's) which are tied up in the various official texts and charters by which heritage is managed.

5 Reasons why we should preserve Heritage sites.

Heritage sites are a symbol of history - They are representation of the past and several times it becomes hard to understand why exactly do we need to spend time, energy and money to preserve heritage sites. Are they really important given the current world we live in apparently they are.

I Evolution of human consciousness is a continuous process.

History here serves as a laboratory and the past serves as a demarcation to understand the regional laws and social structures. This understanding helps in our progress towards ideal society
